Introduction

The following profile gives details of the various religions stated by those completing the 2001 Census. It covers a range of geographies including county, district /brough, localities and wards. Data is available at smaller geographies by contacting the Warwickshire Observatory. Information from the 2011 Census, which will provide and update to this information, is expected to be released in the autumn of 2012.

Key Messages

After Christianity, Sikh is the most commonly stated religion in Warwickshire. Just over 60% of those stating their religion as Sikh live in Warwick District although a sizable number also live in Nuneaton and Bedworth.

The number of people stating their religion as either Hindu or Muslim is roughly similar in Warwickshire. Half of the Hindu population live in Rugby Borough. Over half of the Muslim population live in Nuneaton and Bedworth.

North Warwickshire and Stratford-on-Avon are the least diverse districts/boroughs in terms of religion with volumes for all religions except Christianity relatively low.
